

1 Inspiration .. Moves Me Brightly/Pianist
Artist, Joshua Wiener
Located at Community Park

2 Inspiration ... Moves Me Brightly/Violinist
Artist, Joshua Wiener
Located at Community Park

3 Inspiration ... Moves Me Brightly/Saxophonist
Artist, Joshua Wiener
Materials for all Three Pieces:
Silverdale Limestone
Located at Community Park

4 Lotus
Artist, Matt Cartwright
Materials: Stainless Steel, Acrylic, and Glass
Located at Tom Frost Reservoir

5 Origami
Artist, Michael Clapper
Materials: Dolomitic Limestone and Steel
Located at Trails at Westlake Park

6 Stormchaser
Artist, Reven Swanson
Materials: Steel Mesh, Sheet Metal, and Fused Glass
Located at County Commons Park

7 Sprouting Seed
Artist, Robert Ellison
Materials: Powder Coated Steel
Located at County Estates Park

8 Basking Boulders
Artist, Gary Hauschulz
Materials: Basalt
Located at Sunset Ridge

9 No Hooky
Artist, Gary Hauschulz
Materials: Sandstone and Bronze
Located at Josh's Pond

10 Genesis
Artist, Michael Clapper
Materials: Dolomitic Limestone and Steel
Located at South Midway Park

The ten commissioned benches were designed by six artists whose designs were chosen from proposals received nationwide by the City and County of Broomfield Public Art Committee (PAC). The benches range in design and materials specific to the location where they are placed. Locations were chosen based on their high visibility, community impact, and the potential to showcase the county's mountain views, parks, and open spaces.

Completed in 2006, the art benches are the first official public art project for the PAC. For more information about the Broomfield Public Art Program, please contact or visit: Cultural Affairs Office, One DesCombes Drive, Broomfield, CO or call 303-464-5835. See our website at: www.broomfieldpublicart.com.

Take a hike and get benched with

Broomfield's

Art Benches

PUBLIC ART

get swept away